Skyline Corral User Fee's

Effective, July 15, 2020

Members in good standing do not need to make a reservation to use the facility. Reservations only need to be made if you would like to use it exclusively therefore closing it off to other members. Reservations will close the Brush Pile during the event.

The fees SRPOA has charged for the private use of Skyline Corral have changed due to an ongoing increase in maintenance, insurance, taxes and utilities. The biggest change comes from the use of the grounds for weddings and receptions for the afore mentioned reasons. The cost to reserve Skyline Corral for weddings (for members in good standing only, including their dependents) is now $500. Sponsors must be present during the entire event. A deposit of $100 and a completed reservation form is required to reserve the property. The $100 will be refunded when the reservation sign is returned after the event and the property (Lot 86) is returned to its original condition before the event. All trash, decorations and any other paraphernalia brought in for the event must be removed. If additional cleaning is required by a SRPOA member or a hired cleaner/repair company, or damage was incurred and not repaired, the deposit will not be returned and an additional clean-up and repair fee of $400 will be assessed (total damage assessment of $500)

All other activities such as family reunions, graduation parties, birthdays, horse and other arena related events, etc. shall increase to $50 for members in good standing. Sponsors must be present during the entire event. In addition to the rental fee, a deposit of $50 is required at the time of booking, and refunded if the property is returned in the condition it was found. All trash, decorations and any other paraphernalia brought in for the event must be removed. If additional cleaning is required by a SRPOA member or a hired cleaner/repair company, or damage was incurred and not repaired, the deposit will not be returned and an additional repair fee may be assessed, not to exceed the cost of the repair.
